This Summer...

Read more and read often

Over the school holidays when kids aren't going to school, they can forget how to read. Not completely - but a little bit. Reading is like playing a sport - if you don't train regularly, you'll find it harder to play your best and if you don't read often, you'll find it harder too.

Try reading different things

Over the summer, kids will say they are bored. Don't be bored! Try something new this summer - it could be an audiobook, a graphic novel or a different author.

Stay busy and win

Read, write and create all summer. Return the entry pages to your local library by 5pm on 5 February 2021, and you just might win a prize. How easy is that?

MYTH AND MATCH

This year we're exploring myths, legends, fairytales and fables – but what is the difference?

Match the type of story to the definition and then to an example.

Fairytale	A) A story that we know is fiction that uses a hero or event to explain our world	The Tortoise and the Hare
Fable	B) A story that may be based on a person or event but has not been proven to be true	Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves
Myth	C) A short story that has magic and fantastical characters such as witches or giants	Hercules
Legend	D) A short story that uses animals or nature to teach a lesson	Mulan

Answers: Fairytale - C - Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, Fable - D - The Tortoise and the Hare, Myth - A - Hercules, Legend - B - Mulan

READING CHALLENGE

Reading often is really important. For every day you read for 15 minutes or more record it by colouring in a star.

When you're finished, cut out the page and enter at your local library.

INTERVIEW SOMEONE

Ask someone in your family or a friend about their favourite fairytale, fable or myth. Write the answers below.

When you're finished, cut out the page and enter at your local library.

What is the name of their favourite fairytale, fable or myth?

What happens in the story?

Where is it from?

THAT'S NOT HOW IT GOES!

Choose a fairytale or myth and write a new ending for it.

Name of the story:

Where is it from?

What happens at the end in the original story?

STORIES SHAPE THE WORLD

Everyone has stories to tell. Mark with an X where the stories you read are from.

To find out where they are from, you can search Wikipedia using the name of the story or the name of the author.

Are all your X's close together on the map? Why did you think that is?
